

Linux Edit Command

28 November 2024

11:02

1. Types of Editor

- Nono
- Pico
- Vi
- Vim

2. GUI

- Jedit
- kedit

3. Types of mode in vim

- Command mode
- Insert mode
- Execution mode
- Visual mode

4. Command mode

- Shift + g (cursor bottom of file)
- gg (cursor top of the file)
- dd (delated the line)
- <n>dd (n represent the number dd delated line)
- dw (single word delated)
- <n>dw (n words are delated)
- yy (copy the line)
- yyw (copy the word)
- shift + p (to paste below the current line)
- p (to paste above the current line)
- <n>p (number of line paste)
- Shift + m (to get into the middle)
- Shift + l (lower of file line)
- shift + h (head of file line)
- u (undo data)
- Ctrl + r (redo data)
- cc (cut the line)
- cw (cut the word)
- <n>cc (number of line cut)

Shift + :q! enter (editor bahar aane ke liye)

5. Insert mode

- i (insert mode)
- Esc (insert mode backward to screen)
- I (insert text at start of the current line)
- a (insert text just right of the current character)
- A (insert text at end of the current line)
- o (insert new line below the current line)
- O (insert new line above the current line)
- r (it replaces single character)

- R (replace multiple characters)

Read and write the file

6. Execution mode

- Shift + : set hlsearch (Highlight color word)
- Shift + : set <word> (such the word and highlights word)
- set nu (provide the line number)
- set nonu (cancel the line number)
- Shift + :<n> (Jump to nth line)
- Shift + : (enter the execution mode)
- Shift + :q (quit)
- Shift + :q! (quit forcefully)
- Shift + :w (save the file within the file)
- Shift + :w! ()
- Shift + :wq! (save and quit)
- Shift + :x (save or quit)
- Shift + :set nu (provide the number of line)
- Shift + :<n> (number jump line)
- Shift + :set noun (close the line number)
- Shift + :%s/old_word/new_word/g (replace the multiple word)
- Shift + :!touch /mnt/file1.txt (vim in side create a file using this command)

7. Visual mode

- v (visual mode start)
- Shift + v (Select line by line)
- Ctrl + v (Select block)
- y,d,c (For copy, delete, and cut selected area)
- Copy, paste in the visual mode

How to give the permanent line number using vim editor

Ans. vim ~/.vimrc

- Go to insert mode
- Write --- set number
- After press ESC
- Type :wq and enter
- vim file.txt